

BIG Battery Hunt!

A nationwide battery recycling challenge and free educational resource from Duracell

Welcome to the Big Battery Hunt!

You and your school are now part of a nationwide campaign to help recycle more batteries!

In this kit you will find:

- A battery collection box for each participating child. This box can be personalised and is theirs to keep. Encourage your pupils to get creative by colouring in their box and completing the activities.
- A free post envelope. Don't forget to tell us how well your battery recycling champions are doing by placing their competition entry forms, found at the back of the pupil booklet, in the free post envelope and returning to us by Thursday 26th April 2018 to win some fantastic prizes.

The full resource including teacher notes, assembly plan and classroom presentation to run the Big Battery Hunt lesson, and the pupil activity booklet, progress tracker poster and free post envelope can all be downloaded from our website: <https://nationalschoolpartnership.com/initiatives/bigbatteryhunt/>

You will also be sent a school recycling container. This will arrive in January 2018 for all your pupil's collected batteries. Once full we will collect the container free of charge.

Win some fantastic prizes

Tell us how many batteries your pupils have collected, and they could win some of these amazing prizes:

- A 3-day visit for one class to the Sustainability Centre, with a full itinerary of exciting activities
- iPads
- A 3-year subscription to MyMaths for their school
- Duracell bunny soft toys
- And much, much more!

Battery recycling champions

We want to inspire as many young people as possible to recycle their batteries and we are looking for your best battery recycling champions. If you have a pupil that goes that extra mile - maybe they get their whole community involved by visiting their local library or community groups, or perhaps they create their own poster encouraging people to recycle batteries too - we would love to hear about it! They can be in with a chance of winning some extra prizes, so send us your recycling champion stories, and any accompanying pictures, in the free post envelope or email them to gemma.quickfall@wearefutures.com.

Thank you for taking part in the Big Battery Hunt. Together we hope to make a real difference to our planet by inspiring young people across the UK to recycle more batteries.

Happy Hunting!
